About

Insights Hub is a business analytics platform for exploring market ecosystems.

Latest Update: March 2025

📊 Methodology

EuroStartup Radar: Analysis Methodology

Overview

The EuroStartup Radar provides a comprehensive analysis of the European startup ecosystem, identifyin

Data Sources

- City Selection: 21 major European startup hubs across different regions
- Regions Covered:
  - Western Europe (UK, France, Netherlands, Spain, Portugal)
  - DACH (Germany, Austria, Switzerland)
  - Nordics (Sweden, Finland, Estonia)
  - CEE (Poland, Czech Republic)

Key Metrics

1. Attractiveness Index (0-100)

A composite score measuring a city's viability as a startup hub, based on:

- Availability of talent and skilled workforce
- Access to funding and venture capital
- Quality of infrastructure and facilities
- Government support and regulatory environment
- Networking opportunities and community support

2. Community Votes

Reflects the collective interest and recognition from the startup community. Higher votes indicate stronge

3. Funding (€ Millions)

Approximate total venture capital and founder funding in the city's ecosystem.

City Status Classification

- Established: Mature startup hubs with sustained activity and proven track record
  - Examples: London, Berlin, Paris, Stockholm
  - Characteristics: High votes, high attractiveness index
- Rising: Emerging hubs showing strong growth trajectory
  - Examples: Warsaw, Tallinn, Helsinki
  - Characteristics: Increasing votes, solid attractiveness index
- Hidden Gem: Cities with high potential but lower market attention
  - Examples: Lisbon, Krakow
  - Characteristics: Moderate to high attractiveness, lower comparative votes
- Undervalued: Cities with untapped potential for entrepreneurs

- Characteristics: Growing ecosystem, attractive for new ventures

Sector Classification

Five major tech sectors are tracked:

- Fintech: Financial technology and blockchain startups
- Edtech: Education technology platforms
- Healthtech: Healthcare and biotech innovation
- SaaS: Software-as-a-Service businesses
- Deeptech: Deep technology and hard tech ventures

Analysis Methodology

City Intelligence

Provides an overview of all tracked cities with comparative metrics. Useful for general ecosystem researcl

Sector Map

Shows sector distribution across regions and cities. Helps identify sector specialization in different hubs.

Undervalued Cities

Identifies hidden opportunities where entrepreneurs and investors might find:

- Better valuations
- Less competition
- High growth potential

Country Deep Dive

Detailed analysis of individual countries' startup ecosystems.

Germany Deep Dive

Special focus on Germany as Europe's largest startup ecosystem.

Limitations & Disclaimers

- Data is based on historical information and community votes as of 2024/2025
- Market conditions and rankings are subject to change
- Analysis should not be the sole basis for investment decisions
- Actual business conditions may vary from metrics shown

Updates & Feedback

This analysis is regularly updated with new data and community feedback. For corrections or additional i

---

Last Updated: March 2025

Data Quality

Cities Analyzed Regions Covered

21

5